Who Will Be The Beauty Queen?

Distinguished Guest at Club

Mr. James H. Barksdale, representative of Investors Syndicate was the guest of the Commercial Department this week. Mr. Barksdale gave a pictorial presentation consisting of colored pictures, interesting stories, and panorama of progress as prepared by Mr. A. Lawrence Brown, Educational Director of Investors Syndicate. Mr. Brown is an internationally known lecturer, author and educator. He has lectured in every state in the United States and practically every European country.

It is a well recognized fact, says Mr. Brown, that the human race has made more material progress in the past century than in all preceding centuries put together. It has moved from the ox-cart to the automobile, streamlined train and airplane; from the stage coach to the poney express, telegraph, telephone and radio; from handicrafts in the home to giant factories.

This remarkable development has been due to the proper application of science to human problems to a greater degree than ever before.

But, there is a "Blind Spot Of Science" yet. We have just experienced the worst depression of a century. Millions have been unemployed. Billions of dollars of savings have been lost. Suffering has been widespread. What is the cause of depressions? Is it machines? Do they cause overproduction and thus unemployment? Can depressions be prevented? Can science be applied to this problem?

"Yes" is the answer. There are three small words which solve the problems for everyone—"work" save "have." If one works, and makes money then if he saves what he has made he will surely have sufficient funds for middle and old age. By the proper application of the above three little words you can get rich "easily" "quickly" and "honestly." Scientific making, and scientific saving are two very essential theories to insure funds for old age. The four walls to a safe old age are, asset, management, reserve and record, which were vividly portrayed by the use of graphs, lectures and statistics.

Freshmen Officers Chosen

In the elections for the Freshman Class officers which took place Wednesday night Grace Edwards was chosen as vice-president. Grace is from Gloucester, Va., where she held the office of president of her junior and senior classes in high school. She is also a member of the Y. W. C. A. here.

Alice Williams, from Richmond, won the position of secretary in a re-vote necessitated by a tie with Dorothy Satterfield, from Wilmington, Dela. Alice is a member of the Community Social Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Sarah Lee Miller, from Staunton, won over Ada Clements, from Newport News, in a tie for treasurer. Sarah Lee is a member of the Y. W. C. A., and she held the presidency of her class through all four years of high school.

Dr. Moss Elected

By vote of the student body, Dr. Charles George Gordon Moss was elected dedicatee of the 1940 Battlefield. Dr. Moss, as Professor of History, has become one of the most popular faculty members on the Hill. At present he is a sponsor of Y. W. C. A. and of the Senior Class.

With an editorial intrusion upon the forbidden front page, may we say that we are pleased. Surely there is no one to whom the honor, for it is such, could better have been awarded. Dr. Moss, through his interest and participation in affairs on the Hill, has made himself a beloved and a respected character at Mary Washington College. The Bulletin extends to him its congratulations.

MWC Represented At Conference

Mrs. Robins, Virginia Fiske, Bette Cooke, Margaret Ann Overman, Gail Smith and Virginia Reel attended the fifth annual conference of the Food Service Directors at Baltimore, Md., Nov. 2nd, 3rd and 4th at Lord Baltimore Hotel.

A trip through Johns Hopkins Hospital which they were shown the various departments, kitchens, special diet kitchens, and information as to work of the various departments. They also took a trip through the schools of Hygiene and Public Health in which Dr. D. V. McCollum, who is in charge of those departments, has his laboratories.

They attended a round table discussion on subjects concerning cafeteria and school lunches as to the equipment, service, cost, establishing food habits among children and other vital topics. While the delegates were there, they were entertained with a banquet and luncheon.

The Home Economics Club will hold its second meeting in the college tea room at 7:00 o'clock Thursday, November 16. Every member is urged to be present because this meeting will be the formal initiation of new members.

Cotillion Club Plans First Dance

The M. W. C. Cotillion Club, under the presidency of Jackie Edge, has just taken in fourteen new members, consisting of seven freshmen and as many upperclassmen. Additional members are intended to be taken into the club after its first dance, which will occur on January 10, 1940. Said Jackie Edge: "The club will not duplicate any bids to dances this year because we feel that we can render a greater service to the college and the girls by adopting this policy."

IRC Initiates Address Club

On Tuesday night, November 7, the regular monthly meeting of the IRC opened with a business session. Etta Mitchell was chosen as the representative of the club in the beauty contest. Plans for the statewide conference of IRC's were changed so that it will now be held during the winter quarter, instead of the fall quarter as planned.

The second part of the meeting was the initiation of new members. Each new member was given two slips of paper with current topics of interest to IRC. Of these, the initiate chose one to speak briefly about. The initiates and their subjects were:

Margaret Carpenter—"Import and naval bases and their strategic locations." Sybil Forrest—"Why do Europeans disturb Hitler?"

Ann Jones—"Why Spain is keeping quiet."

Etta Mitchell—"What are recent developments in the Japan-China war?"

Katherine Nutt—"Why are Panama, Suez, and Kiel Canals important in this war?"

Grace Panill—"Work of Dies Committee."

Emma Rose Levy—"The effect the war in Europe may have on 1940 election."

Ann Garabito—"Was the change in Thanksgiving date justified?"

Hollis Pope—"Naval bases in Puerto Rico."

Margery Wood—"Does it make any difference who wins the war in Europe? If the Allies are chosen, why?"

Margaret Gardner—"How can we stop propaganda?"

Dr. Hemphill—"Was it wise to repeal Neutrality Bill?"

Christmas Is Theme Of Dance Club Activities

The Modern Dance Club is working on a creation based on the medieval nativity song, "The Adoration of the Shepherds," arranged by Kurt Schindler. The Club hopes to present this creation before Christmas.

The arts are music, drama, poetry, painting, sculpture, architecture, and dance. Drama and dance rank as subsidiary arts because for the last several hundred years they have had their existence almost entirely within the boundaries of other arts—poetry and music. The business of both the actor and the dancer is to express internal feeling through the medium of the body. Since the dancer shows only the emotional reactions the music produces in him, there is no reason why he should not interpret the Sistine Madonna or the Landscapes of Turner.

Senior Class Prexy

RUTH V. CHESHIRE

Freshmen Elect Commission Members

The officers of the new Freshman Commission, elected last Monday night by the members of the freshman class, are Nancy Leigh Cronin, president; Betty Randolph Jones, vice-president; Irene Altieri, secretary and Ruth Birchett, treasurer. Ann Duane was appointed editor of the Y. W. NOTES with Alice Burton as associate editor.

Additional members of the Commission are Nancy Browne, Penelope Critzos, Betty Lewis, Anne Mays, Patsy McCulloch, Weslia Stafford and Peggy Moran (ex-officio). Virginia Speegle and Nancy Lee Wilkinson were chosen by the town girls to represent them.

The new Commission was introduced at the Y. W. association meeting Tuesday night, and the members will be installed at devotionals Sunday night in a candle light service, according to Marguerite Jennings, Freshman Commissioner.

Work that has already been begun by the group includes arranging chairs at chapel, distributing hymn books, and selling candy in Willard Hall. They also put out the Y. W. NOTES that appeared tonight.

Debaters Plan Winter Contests

On last Wednesday members of the Mary Washington Debate Panel decided to hold a second debate try-out on Wednesday, November 15, at 5 o'clock, in Chandler 13. Present members of the Panel are Eva Catafygioti, Hazel Cantwell, Elsie Mae Cornwell, and Vivian Divon.

A number of students have already requested the opportunity of a second try-out, and other students who wish to take part should communicate with members of the panel before next Wednesday. Alice Smith Bartow, Juanita Fletcher, Sally McPhail, Margaret Morrison, and Ruth Tyler are among the students who will speak in the second try-outs.

Arrangements to debate with teams from Hampton-Sidney, Radford, Vermont, and Virginia were discussed at the meeting of the Panel, but no final action was taken.

Seniors Present Annual Contest

Tonight, at 8 P. M. the Seniors will present their benefit, one which has become almost a tradition here on the hill; the annual Beauty Contest.

At this time, a representative from each organization and class on the Hill will parade before the eyes of the judges: Justice Browning, of Richmond; Mr. Chester B. Goolrick, Commissioner of Revenue of Fredericksburg; and Mrs. H. H. Young, also of Fredericksburg.

In between the judging of the various contestants, a mock beauty contest will be presented. Male members of the faculty will be the "beauties" and the women faculty members will act as judges.

Last year Miss Edith Beamer, was chosen the most beautiful Mary Washington College girl. Misses Carol Jordan, Adine Goodloe and Lucy Dickinson placed second, third, and fourth, respectively.

Elsie Davis—Alpha Phi Sigma.

Lois Dent—Town Girls Club.

Martha Tavenner—Treasurer's Office.

Rosella Tuck—Glee Club.

Dorothy Vernon—Commercial Club.

Nancy Walker—Dramatic Club.

Betty Whitacher—Science Club.

Admission: General seats, 20c; reserved, 30c.

First Y. W. Tea Postponed

The few brave souls who ventured out into last Sunday's cold wind and rain to attend the first Y. W. Sunday Tea, only to find it had been postponed because of the inclement weather, will be recompensed next Sunday at the same time because the ones who were invited for last week will come to tea on that day instead. The Y. W. girls are praying for good weather, there will be plenty to eat, and a good time is assured for all who attend.

These teas are given every Sunday afternoon by the Y. W. C. A. All members of the student body will, at one time or another, be invited.

BE CONSIDERATE!

With the week half gone, and the deadline fast approaching, a member of Student Council ups and informs your editor that this is "Be Considerate" week here on the hill. "And," they gaspingly continue, "nobody seems to know about it—though there are posters all around, and WE'VE been being considerate for three whole days. But everybody looks at us to funny, and so we thought an editorial"—etc. etc.

Of course we realize that "Be Considerate" week is not as well-known as "Be Kind to Dumb Animals" week, or even "Clean Up" week, (and incidentally, that last is not such a bad idea, either) but it's certainly just as worthwhile. Needless to say, this is one command which we all know, and probably adhere to in an unconscious sort of way. A reflex action, you might say, coming in response to home training (or reading Emily Post). However, it does no harm to check up, and make our considerate acts conscious ones. If this continues over the space of a week, who knows but what it may become a habit and linger on.

There's no use listing in detail all those actions which would come under the head of "Be Considerate." They are too numerous, and the majority of them quite obvious.

This might be a suggestion for other organizations in the future to sponsor a "Be something-or-other" week. Maybe our morals and manners COULD sand a little concentrated reconditioning.

KEYHOLE

KOMMENTS

Ho-hum! Another week has passed on wings of lightning, another week-end of gaily is here, and another week will soon pass bringing us closer to Thanksgiving. Ain't it a wonderful thought, girls?

Speaking of thought, Adelaide Rosborough is thoroughly disgusted with her sub-conscious mind for making a certain embarrassing slip at play rehearsal the other night. You might ask Adelaide about it. If she can keep from blushing, she might tell you.

Dot Felts says that we may quote her as saying that having a policeman for a brother comes in handy. Dot missed the bus last Sunday night and Brother just bundled her in a state car and chased the bus.

When Miss Calhoun was asked to maintain two minutes silence in the library to commemorate Armistice Day, she exclaimed with delight, "Two minutes' silence in the library! 'Twill be wonderful!"

Shorley Bortner was tickled pink over her telegram from Dick last Saturday night. And, she receives a letter from him daily. Is that what is known as that which "makes the world go 'round'?"

Nancy Litton and Virginia Dare Dougherty are keeping close tab on each other for their best beaus are brothers. Everytime one sends a letter to her One, the other says, "Don't you dare send that letter 'cause I haven't written Frank (or Ed) and that'll make him mad!"

Although ye olde snow came down in flurries last week-end in Charlottesville, Mary Jean Holloway and Blanche Sutherland just had the bestest time at openings, and they are both of the opinion that prospective doctors are wonderful.

I know that Roy, our fair-haired boy-friend, was very, very happy last week-end for Margie, our fair-haired girl-friend, went home to see her folks and him.

Never trust a male, ladies: The dewey-eyed girl sighed, "Are mine the only lips you have ever kissed?" "Yes, darling," was his answer, "and the sweetest."

And I still maintain that the cutest girl I've heard of yet is APRIL of "Terry and the Pirates." That kid has plenty of oomph! whatever that may be! especially when she says, "If you keep saying those nasty things, I'll just haf to hate you!" Adolescents aren't so dumb—and, we, my dear kiddies, officially are adolescents. Believe it or not!

Have you heard about the G. W. student who holds Margorie Owen's song book in church every Sunday?

Marianna Mearis has a grim smile on her face. She invited HIM down from Pennsylvania to see "Berkeley Square." But now the date of "Berkeley Square" has been changed. Is he coming then also, Marianna?

In case you wonder about that wonderful smile that Midge Clapp is wearing this week, we'll just tell you that all is right between Edmund and her, and she's going to Lexington with him Saturday.

Were any of you in French class the day Myran Russell got her letter from Colorado? Why, some of the girls even had to hold her hand!

Among the gay lassies seen decorating the University of Virginia last week-end were Harriet Herndon and Betty McCormick.

We knew why Lucy Dickinson happened to take the bus at Ashland this past week-end.

A happy lass was Leslye Lau last week-end when the man of the hour arrived to take her to Gordonsville.

Oh for a brother and mother-in-law like Dot Adams will have soon. Reserved seats to the W. and L. and Virginia game and to the V. M. I. and Duke game all in one week-end, the lucky child.

Doing up Annapolis this week-end will be Mary Wilcox and Eleanor Murray.

Who, by way of curiosity, does Jo Reasor monopolize Betty Lewis' telephone for, for three quarters of an hour.

From Willard—

Phyllis Rader has about decided to leave town this week-end. Both Archies are coming to see her and she doesn't want either of them to know that there is another Archie.

Some freshmen still believe that Governor Price wrote those flattering notes which they found in their rooms after he had visited the Willard Dorm several weeks ago. But it was none other than Bettie Ader and Mary McWhorton who wrote them.

One of the S. C. A. guests that roomed in Willard was very much impressed by the tales that the girls told her. Especially Bobo the Eskimo, who said that she was from Alaska.

Hazel Jewett's boy friend has a date with another girl and so to clear his conscience he sent Hazel a box of candy. Not a mad idea.

Willard Hall is turned up-side down since Cotillion bids and German invitations have come out. Oh for the life of a butterfly!

From Westmoreland —

If we only knew why:

Freckles jumps every time the phone rings and runs to the door to see if it's for her.

Frances Alley was so elated when her candle burned out first and immediately let her mind wander to Falls Church.

That far-away look haunts Katherine Newcomb. Three little letters like BOB couldn't do that could they? Or maybe it's that plus the four little letters.

Eunice Martin always finds the time and the place to do the wrong thing.

Jean McCaffrey was on the verge of starting a small war all of her own Monday night.

Two girls are usually identified by—"and that ain't all."

Mary Lou Wilcox has become so "Ardently" exotic.

And just suppose:

We knew Margaret McCulloch's secrets of "gathering ye rosebuds" We knew who the real beauty will be.

We knew Jerry's rapid fire method—a la Edmondson of going to Annapolis, getting Whitman's, and falling in love a la Bob.

INTERESTING PERSONALITIES

In addition to being valedictorian of her class at W. C. Harding High School in Warren, Ohio, Peggy took part in many extra-curricular activities. She was president of the Dramatic Club, president of the Safety Club, an officer in the Friendship Club, life guard at the Y. W. C. A. pool, and a Y. W. assistant in the summer.

How did she happen to come to M. W. C.? Natalie Lewis, also of Warren, had a sister here and was the first to tell Peg about this college. When Peggy saw the catalog and found the course in physical education which she wanted, she at once selected Mary Washington to be her Alma Mater.

When asked what her first impression of the college was, Peggy replied, "It was so beautiful! The scenery was entirely different from what I had been used to. And it was good to see all those Y. W. girls around." She likes most "the spirit at M. W. C."

Peggy has made a good start toward attaining high ideals in college, for she is already a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, the Swimming Club, the Modern Dance Club, and the Freshman Hockey Team.

Sports is this Freshman's first love, especially swimming, diving, and dancing. Peg would like to be either a Y. W. Health Education Director or a college professor in physical education; but her secret ambition is to become an expert diver.

According to her friends, when Peggy heard of her election as president, she couldn't say a word and was so happy she cried. When questioned about Freshman activities, Peg replied, "We haven't made many plans yet, but we're looking forward to a very good doll show."

In spite of all these honors, her many friends believe, "that Peg has remained the same sweet girl."

Town Girls Club Adopts New Name

"Farewell" to the Town Girls Club and "Hello" to Tau Kappa Sigma! At a recent meeting the town girls decided to change a few things about their club and the first thing they did was to adopt a new name. Henceforth it will be Tau Kappa Sigma. A motto was also adopted—Da dextram misero (you Latin scholars can translate for the uneducated masses). The Club's flower is the chrysanthemum (any misspelling is the fault of the printer) and its colors are the royal purple and gold.

Miss Lois Dent, attractive freshman, was selected to represent Tau Kappa Sigma in the beauty contest. With her naturally curly locks and brown eyes Tau Kappa Sigma has a good chance of running off with the prize.

On last Wednesday around 40 club members enjoyed a luncheon in the club room in Chandler Hall. The center of all attractions was a huge 15 pound cocoon cake. Never before did such a great cake disappear in such a short time. But now I have Spanish to study—so au revoir until next week when more Tau Kappa Sigma doings will be written up.

Stage Sets Being Prepared For Berkeley Square

Costumes Have Been Selected

The costumes to be used in "Berkeley Square", the Dramatic Club's forthcoming play, have already been ordered from a costume company in Philadelphia, and many of them will be identical copies of the beautiful costumes which were used in the movie, "Berkeley Square." They are seventeenth and eighteenth century clothes, in the gay colors of the day with lace and ruffles. With their wide hoop skirts, the ladies' costumes are very like present style trends. For the early part of the play each person has two costumes, one for the ball room scene and one for every day wear. White wigs are worn at the ball and wigs resembling real hair are worn at other times. In the 1938 scenes, modern clothes are donned by the cast.

The sets will be constructed by Dr. Ritter and his technical crew. There is a good possibility that all of the furniture used on the stage will be actual eighteenth century pieces from an antique firm. There will be lovely brocades and beautiful soft-finished wood work of the period. The panelling will be cream colored, showing scenes of the time reconstructed from pictures. A portrait of Peter Standish, the role enacted by Levin Houston, will be painted by Emil Schmellock of the art department. There will be a large fireplace and long windows with lovely drapes. The cutouts in these windows will show eighteenth century London against a sky cyclorama.

The sound effects, in charge of Miss Biddy Miller, will come through the loud speakers of the college's public address system. The new switchboard will control the lighting, and afternoon, evening and nightfall will be depicted.

As a result of several changes, the date of "Berkeley Square" has been moved from November 18 to December 2.

Alpha Tau Phi Reunion Is Postponed

Alpha Tau Phi, Honorary National Society for Elementary Majors, held meetings October 30 and 31, in their club room. The purpose of these meetings was the initiation of the ten new pledges. Those initiated this year were: Dorothy Day, Lorraine Dove, Frances Dugger, Madalaine Triana, Mary Jean Holloway, Constance Hawthorne, Arabella Laws, Nancy Litton, and Jane Smith.

What a night for an initiation, October 31 "Hallowe'en". Just ask the girls about it, they were all so scared they shook right out of their SHOES—and SOCKS. Old Alpha Tau members and Mr. Graves assisted the President, Ann Beades, in the initiation ceremony.

The Alpha Tau Phi Reunion which had been planned for the week-end of November 18th, has been postponed. We have just learned that the new building will not be ready by the 18th and the performance of Berkeley Square has been postponed. It seems wise then that our Reunion should be postponed. We are disappointed and know you will be, but we are looking forward to holding the Reunion at a later date. Watch the BULLET for further notice concerning the date, time, etc., of the Alpha Tau Phi Reunion.

Riding Club Has Initiation

After passing the try-out tests held last week, the new members of the Riding club were officially initiated into the club Wednesday.

The members are as follows: Betty Ader, Jean Applegate, Alice Bartow, Aloise Brill, Virginia Bennett, Virginia Chestnutt, Dot de Hart, Mildred Garner, Barbara Greve, June Garnett, Sylvia Irvin, Natalie Kadick, Jane Keefe, Bobby Lyon, Constance Pusey, Josephine Peoples, Weslia Stafford, Doris Sinclair, Blanche Sutherland and Jayne Waugh.

The initiation consisted of riding around on a broomstick with a horse's head on it, wearing shirts backwards, displaying signs saying "I hope to become a good member of the Riding club," and addressing the old club members as "Miss."

Meetings will be held on the fourth Monday of each month at 7 o'clock, according to Beverly Roberts, president. Members that miss more than two meetings without a legitimate reason will be automatically dropped from the roll. Several names were placed on the waiting list to fill any vacancies that occur.

WHAT'S NEXT?

When Martha Lois Driscoll ventured out into the hall on the second floor of Willard the other evening, she created quite a furore, and murmurs of "Why didn't I think of that?" and "Oh, what a cute idea!" could be heard. For you see, Martha had on an entirely new kind of "necklace" on ("the only original idea I've had since I got here," she claims). We're used to seeing pencils, screws, pins, corn, and rubber bands around girls' necks by now, but what Martha had on was a string of 14 (count 'em) small-sized tooth brushes! There are several of each color, and they are strung on a black ribbon—and all purchased from our friend, Mr. Woolworth. Real expensive "joolery" though—the cost (including the ribbon amounted to $1.50! We suggest that there be some kind of a contest, to see who can rig up the screwiest necklace.

"Round The Dial"

How 'bout starting off right here on our own station WFVA by expressing our thanks to Mr. Weiss and his radio gang for giving us extra special entertainment at 1:15 P. M. each day.

As for NBC, we recommend Alec Templeton Time as best bet in listening. His guest stars are A-1 people like Jessica Dragonette, Tommy Dorsey, Lou Holtz, and Casper Reardon; and swing or operatic. Alec gets plenty of fun from them. The show comes from Chicago.

Listen for Tommy Riggs' program as he'll soon give deserving, but little known singers a network break using a different vocalist each program from a different town.

Glenn Miller's new commercial program will be on the air soon. The Andrews Sisters are reported to have been signed to co-star.

Benny Goodman is still making changes in his band. Chris Griffin and Bruce Squires have just left the band. Squires, a fine trombone man, probably will go to Glenn Miller.

Jimmy Dorsey, world's greatest saxophonist, is playing from Frank Dalley's meadowbrook these days. Don't miss hearing him play "Major and Minor Stomp", "Tomorrow Night", and "At Least You Could Say Hello." Incidentally we have an interesting note to add about that popular number: The last time Connie Boswell was in New York she shopped around for song material to use on her Good News show. One of the tunes she picked up was an unpublished number called "At Least You Could Say Hello." Connie had to fight to get the number on her program, and she has sung it twice and now it's a hit.

For the vics here's some scoops. For Decca and Andrews Sisters have a killer-diller in "Chico's Love Song" and they blast you into swing heaven with "The Jumpin' Jive." Frances Langford sings a couple heart throbbers for Decca on "Am I Blue" and "Between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea." This is real make-you-want-to-try music.

Tommy Dorsey and the Clambake Seven have a lot of fun with "El Rancho Grande" and then take it serious on "Shoot the Sherbert to Me, Herbert."

MWC Conducts Search For Talent

Do you sing? Play the piano? Give imitations? Make funny noises? You do! Well, you are just the person that MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE ON THE AIR is searching for.

MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE ON THE AIR is the fifteen minute program presented daily over WFVA by the class in radio. Every day they send over the ether waves the talent of M. W. C. Some of the "artists" who have appeared on the program are The Three Bets, Betty Anthony, Betty Biddestone, and Betty Spencer; The Four J's, June Stoll, Jamie Redwood, Jo Ewing, and June Wendell; Dot Harrington; Kitty Roberts and Bobbie DePase; the Clement Sisters; Virginia Taylor and Eouah Spain; The Merry Washingtonettes; Alfreda Steele; Miss Eva Taylor Eppees; Mr. Ronald Faulkner and daughter, Ronna; and many other campus notables.

On Thursday, November the sixteenth, however, MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE ON THE AIR is going to sponsor a NEW TALENT PROGRAM. There are many girls on the campus who have never had an opportunity to show us what they can do or perhaps they are modest creatures who prefer to hide their "genius". So on the sixteenth the radio class is going to dedicate their daily fifteen minutes to new personalities, new voices, and new talent.

The class whose members are Irene Young, Clara Vandra, Gail Smith, Lee Wingate Keith, Jeanette Cooper, and Helen Horwitz are asking you of the undiscovered abilities to contact it so you may have your chance to go over the ether waves. Don't be bashful for who knows—it may lead to greater things and someday you will be a Bea Wain, a Gracie Allen, or a Connie Boswell.

Remember MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE ON THE AIR is "Calling All Stars" for Thursday, November the sixteenth.

How To Be A Popular Freshman

(Advice from '29 Battlefield)

1. When first you board the train, Fredericksburg bound, rush up to the old girls as if they were long lost friends.
2. Throughout the journey impress upon them the popularity that was yours in your home town.
3. On arriving at college, find fault with your room, roommates, food, rules and school regime in general.
4. In class answer every question, whether or not you have any idea as to subject matter.
5. In class meetings and assemblies it is necessary to make yourself very conspicuous by loud talking and giggling.
6. You should by this time begin to be well known to the student body and be called a "popular freshman."

Casual Comments On Current Fashions At The Vogue

By Cary Billingsley

Congratulations to all the girls who have been broadcasting over station W. F. V. A. You are simply grand! Now here's a hint to each of you—you never know when someone from a larger radio chain is going to be at the station to see and hear you so why not dress for the occasion? There is nothing better to give you all the confidence in the world, when you face that "live mike", than a new dress or hat.

DRESS FOR THE OCCASION

When your clothes not only conform comfortably to your natural curves, but glorify them too, you begin to feel that they're too good to be true. You may not be a radio star today but just put on one of our full-skirted, slim - waisted frocks in one of the new 1939 colors and you'll feel gayer and will really be able to put on a top-notch performance. The Vogue's dresses are as spontaneous as a breeze, simply designed and softly fashioned of lovely materials — just the type to impress everybody.

THE SWEET-HAT OF SIGMA

CHI!

Why not really dress up and put on a hat when you are going on the air? While you're at it get a hat that your beau will like? Hats that men like are worth their weight in gold, and if you're beginning to fear that there are no such things as a visit to The Vogue will straighten you out in short order! Becoming hats that frame your face with an artfulness that's very effective—small hats arranged to give your head a small, proud look—casual sport hats enlivened and softened by details utterly new and completely fetching. And they're all priced so thoughtfully that your pleasure in your choice will be undimmed by any reproaches from your pocket-book!

How about letting me know what you think of this column. All suggestions and criticisms will be greatly appreciated.

SPORTS!

The Seniors really went to town with the freshman in a hard fought hockey game last Thursday and rolled up a score of 3-0. Two points were made in the first half and one in the second. The senior team have been defeated only once before, by the sophomores.

A volleyball tournament is being planned by the Athletic Association; the games, of which will be played during Thanksgiving and Christmas. Girls who are interested may make up teams of eight players.

The sophomore basketball girls are surely on their toes. They're beginning to warm up in some impromptu games already.

The Sophomores triumphed over the freshmen in their last hockey game of the season on Tuesday. Though defeated by a score of 7-1, the freshmen continually kept a fighting spirit and battled to the end.

After the game the girls restored their energy by roasting steaks, drinking coffee, eating pickles and potato chips, and sucking lollypops at the Cabin. The "grub" was provided by Miss Mildred Spiesman, their coach and the entertainment by two ancient records, a victrola, and a worn down needle.

The hockey field will be the scene of much excitement next Thursday when the annual Devil-Goat game is to be played. The Devils are composed of the best players on the Freshman and Junior teams and the Goats of the players on the Sophomore and Senior teams.
